SUPREME COURT OF GEORGIA

The Honorable Supreme Court met pursuant to adjournment.

The following order was passed:

IN RE: GEORGIA RULES OF PROFESSIONAL CONDUCT AND LAWYER PARTICIPATION IN CLOSINGS OF REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS

There presently is a public health state of emergency declared by the Governor and a statewide judicial emergency declared by the Chief Justice, both in connection with the ongoing national outbreak of COVID-19. To impede the transmission of the SARS-CoV-2 virus that causes the disease, the Governor and many counties and municipalities in Georgia have taken steps—based on guidance from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention and the Georgia Department of Public Health—to discourage and limit unnecessary public gatherings. The Chief Justice likewise has directed that judicial proceedings should be conducted, if at all, in “a manner to limit the risk of exposure [to SARS-CoV-2], such as by videoconferencing, when possible.”

The State Bar of Georgia has brought to the attention of the Court that there may be some uncertainty among lawyers about the extent to which a lawyer, consistent with the Georgia Rules of Professional Conduct, may participate in and supervise the closing of a real estate transaction without being physically present at the closing and in close proximity to the parties to the transaction. To the extent that the Rules of Professional Conduct may require an attorney to be physically present at the closing of a real estate transaction and in close proximity to the parties to the transaction,¹ in the light of the current circumstances and after consultation with the president of the State Bar, the Court temporarily suspends any such requirement² and orders that, so far as the Rules of Professional Conduct are concerned, a lawyer may participate in and supervise the closing of a real estate transaction by way of video conference.³

Unless otherwise modified by the Court, this order shall continue in effect until the declaration by the Chief Justice of a statewide judicial emergency is rescinded or expires by its own terms.⁴ When the declaration of the Chief Justice is rescinded or

expires by its own terms, this order shall dissolve without further order of this Court.
